Number of participants- 143

Toms college of Engineering conducted a class regarding guidance for appearing GATE Exam. GATE is a clever approach to assess the thorough comprehension of numerous undergraduate engineering and science disciplines. It is a computer-based test with either multiple-choice questions (MCQ) or questions with numerical answers (NAT). The GATE exam is designed to assess undergraduate students' understanding of numerous core engineering and scientific disciplines. This exam is well-liked since it opens doors to excellent postgraduate programmes and jobs.

PROGRAMME REPORT

Programme Details: Guidance for appearing GATE

Date : 21.04.2020

Time: 10 am to 12 pm

Resource Person: Joby Joseph

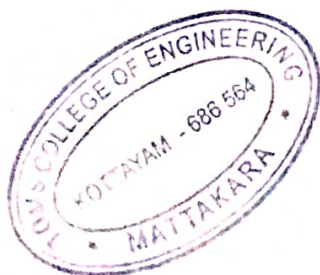

Mode : Online

Number of participants- 41

Toms college of Engineering conducted a class regarding guidance for appearing GATE Exam, for B.tech 3rd and 4th years through online because of the panic situation of Covid and Lockdown. GATE is a clever approach to assess the thorough comprehension of numerous undergraduate engineering and science disciplines. It is a computer-based test with either multiple-choice questions (MCQ) or questions with numerical answers (NAT). The GATE exam is designed to assess undergraduate students' understanding of numerous core engineering and scientific disciplines. This exam is well-liked since it opens doors to excellent postgraduate programmes and jobs.

GATE Preparation tips

- The First and Most Important Step Is To Know Your Syllabus
- Understand the format of the exam
- Create a Reliable Study Plan
- Early preparation is key.
- Explore relevant books and take notes
- Use practice test questions from the past GATE exams.
- Learn time management skills
- The vital is revision
