

MESS COMMITTEE

Food is an imperative element of human survival. Since there has never been any other satisfactory human body fuel that could replace it. Food holds different meanings for different people. Cultures, clans, families, and the identity of individuals are shaped by the food they eat and the way it is prepared and served to them. This pushes us to do better than the best and drives us to accomplish these challenges successfully. Mess Committee, a student body, plays a very significant role to satisfy the elementary need of the students.
